* Please refer to the fund supplement and scheme particulars for a detailed description of fees and fund facts.

 The Total Expense Ratios (TERs) are the percentages of the net asset value of the class of the Financial Product incurred as expenses relating to the administration of the Financial Product. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. A current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. The TER to 30.09.25 is based on data for the period from 30.09.24 to 30.09.25 and the financial year-end TER is based on data for the financial year-end to 30.06.25. Cost ratios are calculated using historical actual and/or estimated data and are provided solely as an indication/guide as to the annual expenses/costs that could be incurred. These ratios do not represent any current/actual charges or fees.

 Asset allocation figures reflect the strategic classification of the collective investment schemes (or similar schemes) held by the Fund and do not look through to the underlying holdings of such schemes.

■ Market commentary

Global markets extended their Q3 rally in September, supported by resilient economic data, dovish central bank signals, and continued strength in AI-related sectors. Global equities returned 3.2% for the month, led by US megacap tech stocks, with the S&P 500 up 3.6% and the Magnificent Seven gaining 6.8%. Japan and China also posted strong gains, with the Topix up 3% and MSCI China rising 9.8%, driven by stimulus measures and surging AI revenues—Alibaba and Tencent rose 29.1% and 9.6% respectively.

This month, technology stocks remained the standout performers. Nvidia gained 7.1%, buoyed by a $100bn deal with OpenAI and a $5bn investment in Intel. Apple rose 9.7% on tariff exemptions tied to its $100bn US investment, while Alphabet surged 14.2% following a favourable antitrust ruling. Tesla climbed 33.2% after Elon Musk’s $1bn stock purchase. These four stocks alone accounted for over half of the S&P 500’s quarterly return.

The Fed cut rates by 25bps in September, its first move since December 2024, and signalled further easing. The FOMC dot plot suggests an additional 50bps of cuts by year-end and 25bps more in 2026. Inflation data came in at or below expectations, easing concerns about tariffs, while the 10-year breakeven rate rose modestly to 2.37%. US Treasuries returned 0.9% over the month.

Gold surged 11.9% in September, reaching new all-time highs, driven by safe-haven demand amid geopolitical tensions and debt concerns. The US dollar stabilised, and Brent crude fell to $64, down from $83 in January, helping contain inflation and support disposable incomes.

Fiscal concerns resurfaced globally. In the US, heavy debt issuance steepened the yield curve, while Fed independence came under scrutiny. In Europe, France’s political instability and rising deficits pushed its bond yields above those of the PIIGS (Portugal, Italy, Ireland, Greece, Spain). Finally, UK gilts rose 0.7% as 10-year yields rose to 4.69%. The BoE cut rates again but maintained a hawkish tone with inflation near 4%.

While valuations are elevated and risks remain, including those related to tariffs, debt sustainability, and geopolitical tensions, AI-driven investment and supportive financial conditions continue to offer a constructive outlook over the medium term. A period of consolidation may be approaching, but we remain cautiously optimistic and continue to look for opportunities to increase risk exposure in a measured and selective manner.

■ Risk warnings and important notes

Collective investments are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of units may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future.

Collective investments are traded at ruling prices. Commission and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. All performance is calculated on a total return basis, after deduction of all fees and commissions and in US dollar terms. Forward pricing is used.

The Fund invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. This could result in a higher fee structure for the Fund.

Fluctuations in the value of the underlying funds, the income from them and changes in interest rates mean that the value of the Fund and any income arising from it may fall, as well as rise, and is not guaranteed.

Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.

The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and may change in the future.

Higher risk investments may be subject to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Higher risk investments include, but are not limited to, investments in smaller companies, even in developed markets, investments in emerging markets or single country debt or equity funds and investments in high yield or non-investment grade debt.

Notwithstanding ongoing monitoring of the underlying funds within the Fund, there can be no assurance that the performance of the funds will achieve their stated objectives.

The Fund will contain shares or units in underlying funds that invest internationally. The value of an investor's investment and the income arising from it will therefore be subject to exchange rate fluctuations.

Foreign securities may have additional material risks, depending on the specific risks affecting that country, such as: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds; macroeconomic risks; political risks; foreign exchange risks; tax risks; settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. Investments in such funds will only be realisable on their dealing days. It is not possible to assess the proper market price of these investments other than on the fund's dealing days.

No borrowing will be undertaken by the Fund except for the purpose of meeting short term liquidity requirements. Borrowings will not exceed 10% of the net asset value of the Fund. For such purpose, the securities of the Fund may be pledged. No scrip borrowing will be allowed. The Cell is not permitted to enter into any form of borrowing or loan arrangement with other cells of the Company nor other collective investment schemes of the Manager.

While derivative instruments may be used for hedging purposes, the risk remains that the relevant instrument may not necessarily fully correlate to the investments in the Fund and accordingly not fully reflect changes in the value of the investment, giving rise to potential net losses.

Forward contracts are neither traded on exchanges nor standardised. Principals dealing in these markets are also not required to make markets in the currencies they trade, with the result that these markets may experience periods of illiquidity. Banks and dealers will normally act as principals and usually each transaction is negotiated on an individual basis.

The Manager has the right to close the Fund to new investors, in order to manage it more efficiently, in accordance with its mandate.

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors. Investors should obtain advice from their financial adviser before proceeding with an investment.

Investors are reminded that any forecasts and/or commentary included in this MDD are not guaranteed to occur, and merely reflect the interpretation of the public information and propriety research available to the Investment Manager at a particular point in time.
