Market commentary

The merry month of May surprised a number of market pundits and investors alike as the rollercoaster investment ride continued. The past month highlighted numerous imbalances in the local and global environment which will have a profound impact on future return; however the party remains in full swing and equity assets remain the hottest asset around. We are definitely in "risk on" mode.

Fundamentals "have left the building" – this is the only way to describe current market conditions. Markets go up on bad, good and even no news. In this environment, where central banks continue to flood the market with liquidity, emotions are running wild, driving certain markets to levels of profound euphoria and others to the doldrums of destruction. The global economic environment remained volatile and uncertain, and expected economic growth continued to decline in most major economies, according to the latest IMF forecasts. The biggest "surprise", however, was an indication from the US FED that quantitative easing could in due course (over the next 6 to 12 months) become quantitative weaning, which caused the market to react emotionally and irrationally.

Interest rate-sensitive assets, like bonds and emerging market equities, took the brunt of the knocks while surprising earnings numbers continued to provide support to developed market equities. The All Country World Index was down 0.27% on the back of weak performance from emerging market stocks (down 2.57%), the BRIC's (down 3.23%) and Japan (down 4.13%), while other developed markets generated positive returns. The US S&P500 added 2.34% and European stocks (EURO STOXX 50) returned 1.51%.

Global bonds remained under pressure on the back of continued yen weakness (Japan is the second largest bond market in the world) and fear of quantitative weaning instead of the expected continued easing in the US, which pushed up US bond yields. This resulted in global bonds losing 3.37% for the month.

Our portfolios again benefitted from our preference for global equities over global bonds. In addition, our preference for high quality corporate bonds and diverse and active asset management within the fixed income environment also added significant value.

May served as a timely reminder of how unexpected market movements can be. Uncertainty in markets remains high. We do however remain cautiously optimistic due to a disciplined and proven investment approach.

We maintain our overweight offshore equity position relative to bonds based on valuation and the differentiation benefits that equities hold. We prefer active investment strategies and will continue to assess valuation risk which could lead to increased tactical positioning.

■ Risk warnings and important notes

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors and financial advice should be sought before proceeding with an investment. Past performance is not indicative of future returns and there can be no assurance that the performance of the Fund will achieve its stated objective. All performance is calculated on a total returns basis, net of all fees and commissions and in US Dollar terms. Daily forward pricing is used for this Fund.

Collective investments are generally medium to long term investments and are traded at ruling prices. The value of the Fund and any income arising from it are not guaranteed and may fall, as well as rise, due to the value of its holdings, the income derived from them, and changes in interest rates. The Fund may hold shares or units in underlying funds which invest internationally, which will be exposed to exchange rate fluctuations, and may erode any potential gains.

Higher risk investments, such as small companies (even in developed markets), emerging markets, single country debt, equity funds, high yield and sub-investment grade debt may be more prone to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Unregulated funds may permit a greater degree of leverage than is permitted with regulated funds that are available to the general public in South Africa, which increases volatility and the risk of larger losses should the fund's value decrease.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. It is not possible to immediately assess the proper market price of these investments, as they will only be realisable on their dealing days.

A fund of fund collective investment scheme only invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and are subject to change thereby impacting the Fund's performance. Commissions and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.
