■ Market commentary

Overall June was another unfavourable month for markets with volatility and uncertainty reigning strong. Global Equity lost -2.4% in US dollar terms while Global bonds declined -0.3%. Equity losses were fairly widespread with Emerging markets falling -2.6% and Developed markets falling -2.3% in US dollar terms.

The US Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) kept rates on hold at its latest meeting, as expected. US Federal Reserve (Fed) Chair, Janet Yellen, has reiterated that even once rate hikes commence, US monetary policy will remain extremely accommodative and that the pace of increases would be gradual and well below the long term average. The first hike is expected to occur towards the end of 2015 or early 2016. The US continues to increase employment at an impressive rate and the labour market participation rate continues to rise. Although still extremely low by historical standards, there are signs of an upward trend developing. US GDP improved to -0.2%, albeit still in negative territory. US inflation remains negligible.

In China, the People's Bank of China (PBOC) cut interest rates by 0.25% again, their 4th cut in the last 8 months, in line with the government's intent to prop up growth. This came after the Shanghai Composite Index fell over 20% from its recent high.

The Greek debacle has been overshadowing markets as investors are concerned about the risk of possible contagion if Greece leaves the euro and exactly what effect it will have on the rest of Europe and global markets. Greece makes up only 1.8% of Eurozone GDP making the long term impact likely to be more muted.

Concerns remain around global economic conditions and asset class valuations and as a result we continue to prefer a diversified approach in the portfolios. We remain diversified across geography, asset class, industry and currency and wait patiently for the opportune time to increase our overall risk exposure.

■ Risk warnings and important notes

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors and financial advice should be sought before proceeding with an investment. Past performance is not indicative of future returns and there can be no assurance that the performance of the Fund will achieve its stated objective. All performance is calculated on a total returns basis, net of all fees and commissions and in US Dollar terms. Daily forward pricing is used for this Fund.

Collective investments are generally medium to long term investments and are traded at ruling prices. The value of the Fund and any income arising from it are not guaranteed and may fall, as well as rise, due to the value of its holdings, the income derived from them, and changes in interest rates. The Fund will hold shares or units in underlying funds which invest internationally, which will be exposed to exchange rate fluctuations, and may erode any potential gains.

Higher risk investments, such as small companies (even in developed markets), emerging markets, single country debt, equity funds, high yield and sub-investment grade debt may be more prone to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Unregulated funds may permit a greater degree of leverage than is permitted with regulated funds that are available to the general public in South Africa, which increases volatility and the risk of larger losses should the fund's value decrease.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. It is not possible to immediately assess the proper market price of these investments, as they will only be realisable on their dealing days.

A fund of fund collective investment scheme only invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and are subject to change thereby impacting the Fund's performance. Commissions and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.
