* Please refer to the fund supplement and scheme particulars for a detailed description of fees and fund facts.

 The Total Expense Ratios (TERs) are the percentages of the net asset value of the class of the Financial Product incurred as expenses relating to the administration of the Financial Product. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. A current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. The TER to 29 March 2018 is based on data for the period from 31 March 2017 to 29 March 2018 and the financial year-end TER is based on data for the financial year-end to 30 June 2017. Cost ratios are calculated using historical actual and/or estimated data and are provided solely as an indication/guide as to the annual expenses/costs that could be incurred. These ratios do not represent any current/actual charges or fees.

 Asset allocation figures look through to the holdings of underlying collective investment schemes.

Market commentary

The most notable event in the month was the fall-out from the indecisive Italian election in March: an unlikely coalition of the anti-establishment 5 Star Movement and the far right League was finally able to form a government in May, only to have their nomination of finance minister overturned by the President. Investors took fright as it seemed the coalition would use this as an opportunity to push for another election in which the populists could have increased their share of the vote, increasing the risks of Italy exiting the euro. In the event a compromise was reached, but not before yields on 10-year Italian bonds had moved sharply higher from 1.9% to 3.2% (now 2.8%).

With a government debt to GDP ratio of 130%, one of the highest in the world, Italy remains vulnerable, despite the better performance of its economy in the past year, and many Italians reject the budgetary constraints imposed by Brussels.

Positive data from the US; problems in Italy plus evidence of slowing growth across the Eurozone more broadly; and steep interest rate differentials between the US and other developed countries, all underpinned the US dollar in May. On a trade weighted basis the dollar rose 2.3% in May, continuing its recovery from the February lows.

The strong dollar and rising interest rates in the US combined to put pressure on emerging markets, especially those most vulnerable with high offshore debt levels and weak current accounts requiring dollar funding. Emerging market equities fell 2.2% in local currency terms over the month (-3.5% in dollar terms). Meanwhile developed markets added 1.3% (+0.6% in dollar terms), led by the US which was the best performing market in US dollar terms.

For the first time since the financial crisis safe haven government bonds, albeit only in the US, are beginning to offer an acceptable yield, and this will change the way other, riskier, markets perform in the months ahead.

The global economy continues to expand at a reasonable rate, and there are few if any signs of capacity shortages that would push up inflation rapidly and trigger an unexpected or steeper tightening of monetary policy. A key factor will be the huge growth in employment in the US over the past few years, leading to unemployment levels at near 50 year lows and some signs of a pick-up in wage inflation. This will be a key metric to watch in coming months but for the time being the economic environment remains broadly benign and hence we believe it is too early to be calling an end to this cycle.

Risk warnings and important notes

Collective investments are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of units may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future.

Collective investments are traded at ruling prices. Commission and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. All performance is calculated on a total return basis, after deduction of all fees and commissions and in US dollar terms. Forward pricing is used.

The Fund invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. This could result in a higher fee structure for the Fund.

Fluctuations in the value of the underlying funds, the income from them and changes in interest rates mean that the value of the Fund and any income arising from it may fall, as well as rise, and is not guaranteed.

Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.

The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and may change in the future.

Higher risk investments may be subject to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Higher risk investments include, but are not limited to, investments in smaller companies, even in developed markets, investments in emerging markets or single country debt or equity funds and investments in high yield or non-investment grade debt.

Notwithstanding ongoing monitoring of the underlying funds within the Fund, there can be no assurance that the performance of the funds will achieve their stated objectives.

The Fund will contain shares or units in underlying funds that invest internationally. The value of an investor's investment and the income arising from it will therefore be subject to exchange rate fluctuations.

Foreign securities may have additional material risks, depending on the specific risks affecting that country, such as: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds; macroeconomic risks; political risks; foreign exchange risks; tax risks; settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. Investments in such funds will only be realisable on their dealing days. It is not possible to assess the proper market price of these investments other than on the fund's dealing days.

No borrowing will be undertaken by the Fund except for the purpose of meeting short term liquidity requirements. Borrowings will not exceed 10% of the net asset value of the Fund. For such purpose, the securities of the Fund may be pledged. No scrip borrowing will be allowed. The Cell is not permitted to enter into any form of borrowing or loan arrangement with other cells of the Company nor other collective investment schemes of the Manager.

While derivative instruments may be used for hedging purposes, the risk remains that the relevant instrument may not necessarily fully correlate to the investments in the Fund and accordingly not fully reflect changes in the value of the investment, giving rise to potential net losses.

Forward contracts are neither traded on exchanges nor standardised. Principals dealing in these markets are also not required to make markets in the currencies they trade, with the result that these markets may experience periods of illiquidity. Banks and dealers will normally act as principals and usually each transaction is negotiated on an individual basis.

The Manager has the right to close the Fund to new investors, in order to manage it more efficiently, in accordance with its mandate.

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors. Investors should obtain advice from their financial adviser before proceeding with an investment.

Investors are reminded that any forecasts and/or commentary included in this MDD are not guaranteed to occur, and merely reflect the interpretation of the public information and propriety research available to the Investment Manager at a particular point in time.
