Investment objective

The cell focuses primarily on long-term capital growth over the full investment cycle through a relatively high exposure to international growth assets. The portfolio will retain a good level of diversification, however, and will invest in a wide range of asset classes including cash, bonds, equities and property. The Cell is suited to investors with an investment horizon of 5 years or longer and an intermediate (between moderate and high) risk tolerance.

Market commentary

Global equity markets were up by a modest 1.28% in US dollar terms this month as investor risk appetite was supported by an improvement in economic data in the US and China. Developed and emerging markets returned 1.28% and 1.27% respectively. The gains have come against a backdrop of disappointing news on economic growth out of the EU, Japan and UK. Global bonds declined 0.15%.

The EU, Japan and UK GDP shrank an annualised 0.60%, 3.50% and 0.10% respectively in the third quarter, while the US accelerated 2.70%. The negative effects of hurricane Sandy are expected to be temporary, and if market participants are correct to expect positive US Fiscal negotiations, there is a good reason to believe that global growth could begin to firm in 2013. The Volatility Index (VIX) currently reflects neither high levels of implied equity market volatility nor notably elevated fears of extreme market outcomes.

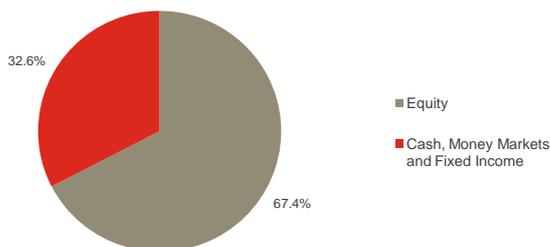

A deal has finally been reached to disburse more aid to Greece. EU finance ministers and the IMF agreed that Greek public debt should fall to 124% of GDP in 2020 (from the current 161%) through a package of extra debt-cutting measures.

The China leadership transition went smoothly. China's Flash PMI hit a 13-month high at 50.4 indicating an improvement in manufacturing activity and economic expansion.

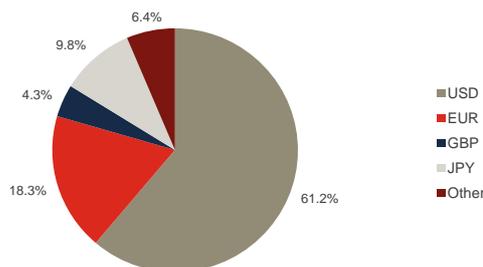

Against this backdrop of modest acceleration in US growth, equities look set to continue to outperform bond markets. Markets, however, remain in uncertain territory and we thus maintain a cautious approach. We remain marginally overweight in equities and underweight in fixed interest. We believe that assuming a more active investment approach, particularly in the area of stock selection, will assist in adding value in these uncertain times.

■ Risk warnings and important notes

Collective investments are generally medium to long term investments. The value of units may go down as well as up, and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future.

Collective investments are traded at ruling prices. Commission and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. All performance is calculated Total Return, Net of all fees and commissions and in US Dollar terms. Daily Forward pricing is used.

A fund of fund collective investment scheme only invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges.

Fluctuations in the value of the underlying funds and the income from them and changes in interest rates mean that the value of the Fund and any income arising from it may fall, as well as rise, and is not guaranteed.

Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.

The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and may change in the future.

Higher risk investments may be subject to sudden and large falls in value in comparison to other investments. Higher risk investments include, but are not limited to, investments in smaller companies, even in developed markets, investments in emerging markets or single country debt or equity funds and investments in high yield or non-investment grade debt.

Notwithstanding ongoing monitoring of the underlying funds within the Fund, there can be no assurance that the performance of the Fund will achieve its stated objectives.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that invest internationally. The value of your investment and the income arising from it may therefore be subject to exchange rate fluctuations.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. Investments in such funds will only be realisable on their dealing days. It is not possible to assess the proper market price of these investments other than on the fund's dealing days.

Certain unregulated Collective Investment Schemes may permit a greater degree of leverage than is permitted with investment funds that are available to the general public in South Africa. Such Collective Investment Schemes have a greater underlying volatility, which increases the risk of loss.

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors. Investors should obtain advice from their financial adviser before proceeding with an investment.
