Investment objective

The Fund focuses primarily on long-term capital growth over the full investment cycle through a relatively high exposure to international growth assets. The portfolio will retain a good level of diversification, however, and will invest in a wide range of asset classes including cash, bonds, equities and property. The Fund is ideally suited to investors with an investment horizon of 5 years or longer and an intermediate (between moderate and high) risk tolerance.

■ Market commentary

Global markets were positive in US Dollar terms in April. The MSCI AC World index gained 1.5%. Developed markets added 1.6% while emerging markets saw a 0.5% improvement. Global bonds rose 1.2% in US Dollar terms.

Emerging market currencies have seen some strengthening in 2016 so far, compared to material weakening in 2015. The Russian Ruble has risen by 11.6% against the Dollar in 2016, after a decline of 23.5% in 2015, while the Brazilian Real has gained 11.6% against the Dollar after a loss of 32.6% in 2015. Recent emerging market currency strength has resulted from a combination of factors that have led to an increase in bond and equity portfolio flows from developed markets back into emerging markets (after significant portfolio outflows in 2015). Factors include improved Chinese economic data, a more dovish tone from the US Federal Reserve and the extension of quantitative easing in the Euro-area along with the European Central Bank's decision to introduce a negative deposit rate. Many of the emerging market currencies have been regarded as being significantly undervalued.

US CPI disappointed in March, rising 0.9% year-on-year from 1% in February, compared to expectations of an increase of 1.1%.

Chinese GDP was in line with expectations at 6.7% versus 6.8% in the previous quarter.

The International Monetary Fund revised down their world growth outlook for 2016 and 2017, once again. Most regions, including Sub-Saharan Africa, were revised lower. China was one key exception, which had their growth forecast revised up.

We remain cautiously optimistic about the portfolios. There may be a lot of "noise" and uncertainty out there but we believe in our philosophy and in remaining committed to it, we have seen that the portfolios are able to withstand uncertainty. We urge investors to remain patient and committed to their chosen investment strategy.

■ Risk warnings and important notes

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors and financial advice should be sought before proceeding with an investment. Past performance is not indicative of future returns and there can be no assurance that the performance of the Fund will achieve its stated objective. All performance is calculated on a total returns basis, net of all fees and commissions and in US Dollar terms. Daily forward pricing is used for this Fund.

Collective investments are generally medium to long term investments and are traded at ruling prices. The value of the Fund and any income arising from it are not guaranteed and may fall, as well as rise, due to the value of its holdings, the income derived from them, and changes in interest rates. The Fund will hold shares or units in underlying funds which invest internationally, which will be exposed to exchange rate fluctuations, and may erode any potential gains.

Higher risk investments, such as small companies (even in developed markets), emerging markets, single country debt, equity funds, high yield and sub-investment grade debt may be more prone to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Unregulated funds may permit a greater degree of leverage than is permitted with regulated funds that are available to the general public in South Africa, which increases volatility and the risk of larger losses should the fund's value decrease.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. It is not possible to immediately assess the proper market price of these investments, as they will only be realisable on their dealing days.

A fund of fund collective investment scheme only invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and are subject to change thereby impacting the Fund's performance. Commissions and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.
